Students step into the millennium

Senior Sean Finney said he was very glad to finally take the last step to becoming a senior and graduating.

Students dragged themselves back to school on August 28. There were several new rules and changes. For example, the first-come first-serve policy for parking definitely caused a stir among faculty and students who had to arrive earlier to compete for Another policy spaces in the morning. passed that prohibited field trips during the school day except for senior trip and competitive events. This was to help students be more prepared for SOL's. Cross country runner Ashley Talaber was the fourth fastest freshman in Virginia. The girls' cross country team went to regionals for the third time. Freshmen took the classroom portion of driver's education Despite the changes and controversial new policies, students excelled and remained Arriving at school, senior Matt Dofflemyer, is one the first students to get one of the few issued parking spots at school. At the beginning of the 2000-2001 school year there was a new parking rule issued for students. Each student filled out a form for a parking pass, a limited number of students got one, and then out of those students the first to get to the school got to have the first available spots.

After the millennium, everyone expected changes. They thought it would just be in technology, but little did they know it would move into our own school systems. Many changes were made this year at Luray High. New students that transferred to our school came from schools in other states and even other countries. Students adapted to new rules with a new superintendent. Starting in the year 2000, SOLs were made stricter in the school curriculum. For each kind of diploma certain requirements from the SOLs are needed to graduate.

sophomore Jonathan Packard answered many questions about what it was like to come to a new school. In response he said,
It's small but it's ok!"

All things are constantly changing, some things we hardly notice, where as others seem to cause controversy. The first time for these changes is usually met with disagreement and protest by both parents and students. However once we become accustomed to the new ideas the become accepted as the way things are. In a few years no one will care where they have to park. We will adapt to missing a less amount of school and spring field trips will seem normal. The controversy over dates may never go away, many students at Lifl& are involved in relationships with people over twenty-one and the new rule will keep people from attending their senior prom.

Rules are not the only new changes, the Lifl& staff grew by sixteen new teachers this year.

THE NEW GUY IN TOWN

Robert Chappell graduated fro UNC-Chapel Hill with a BA degree, UVA with a Masters in Eduation, and VA Tech with a Doctorate in Educational Leadership. His career began in 1966 as a 7th grade teacher in Bukingham County. Then as a Special Education Teacher in Orange County, from 1972-78 he was a Guidence Director in Albermarle County, then as an Assistant Principal of Madison County. From 1982-87 he was Principal at Rappahannock County then Assistent Superintendent of the Rappahannock County Schools. His last job before coming to Page County was the Superintendent of Essex County Public Schools in Tappahannock, VA.

In his spare time Dr. Chappell "enjoys singing and playing the guitar and bass fiddle." He also runs regularly and lifts weights. He describes himself as a "sports fanatic."

Dr. Chappell hopes to make Page County amongst the best in Virginia.

No Buts About It

-This year, for the first time dates for dances must be under 21.

"Its really dumb because officer McConal is a cop and if anybody comes to the dance intoxicated he can arrest them."

Dr. Chappell issued a new attendance policy. The policy stated:

-Students are allowed to miss ten days a semester.

-If any student misses more than ten days during a semester that student is put on poor school standing.

-Athletes are dismissed from their sport and students are not allowed to attend any school events including sporting events and dances.

"The Virginia Standards of Learning require that schools be held accountable for students academic progress. Anything we can do to improve this progress is essential. Our new policy has imroved our attendance. I feel it will remain in place and become more stringent in years to come."

-Mr. Thomas, Principal

-All field trips have to be taken after 80L testing.

"I think if a field trip can be legitimately defended as supporting an 80L or 80L's that students can and will only benefit from such a trip. In fact, most field trips can satisfy 80L's in several subject areas: ie, research, history, science."

FEACHER DIES

Like the Olympic athletes in Australia, teachers have always strived to be the best at what they do. So, the students chose who was the best and at what. They all have their favorites and of course, least favorites, and so, the Highland staff decided to rally every student's opinion. During the first semester, surveys were released asking the students to choose their favorite teachers in several categories, such as funniest, friendliest, and most spirited. Soon after, the surveys were returned to the staff.

After weeks of toiling, certain staffers tabulated the results from the surveys and finalized them in an infograph. Some subjects, however, were cut from the original survey due to the time it took to enter the categories into the computer. After the tabulation, each teacher was presented with a certificate commending them on their achievement in each field at a faculty meeting in February.

"It's important for the teachers to be spirited because it helps the students be more spirited," most spirited teacher Kathy Chrisman commented on the honor. Several teachers spoke about the superlatives given to them.

HERO AMONGST FOOLS

Room 303 was always a buzz with editors and staffers coming and going to contribute to the yearbook. This year, the staff sought out a much more organized way to function than last year bringing together the staff to create an annual the school would never forget. The staff was cut from 36 students to 19, leaving the clutter of the past where it belonged.

Each staffer was assigned at least three spreads at the beginning of the year, so they could compile necessary photos and informadeadline. In late September, the majority of the staff attended the Jostens Fall Yearbook Workshop in Fairfax, where they attended seminars on photography, writing, etc.

During the winter, the staff came up with a campaign to promote yearbook sales. The campaign, called "Yearbook Man," was a se-tion when it was needed to meet each ries of short, video advertisements leaturing the escapades of a superhero roaming the halls of the school saving those poor souls who had not purchased a yearbook. The identity of Yearbook Man was kept a secret from the student body and faculty in order to boost sales. The staff promised his identity would be revealed in the book.

In mid-March, several staffers planned to attend the Columbia &cholastic Press Association Convention in New York City. However, the trip was not to be. In November, the school board passed a new trip policy that prohibited all field trips until after 80L tests in May. Even without the New York trip, the staff made the 2001 Highland experience fun and worthwhile, capturing the events of the school for all to remember.

The students at Luray High School have a variety of life after school schedules and activities. People are interested most in hanging out with friends, going to the movies, or the satisfaction of planning something different every weekend. Some other cool things to do were to go skateboarding, ice skating, and play an instrument. Although the students have what they like to do some what in common, they still have a lot of differences. For example, the curfew issue fluctuates between students. In a survey, the most common hours for weekday curfew were to be home by nine o'clock at night. And, the latest curfew for weekends was between ten and eleven o'clock. But, ofcourse, there was still the very lucky students that didn't have any curfews during the week or weekend. The usual activities right after school were to go to a practice for a sport or other activity, go home and start your homework, go to work, or ride out town and check out the scene. Yet some people had to go work after school and on weekends. The most popular places to work this year was in a fast food resturant like Ilardees or McDonalds, or at a tourist attraction location like Luray Caverns. Students' lives this year really showed the real world.

Real Wolfe

YOUNGER STUDENTS NOW TAKE DRIVER'S EDUCATION

Does the thought of driving scare you? Well, if it didn't already, have you thought about drivers being younger than sixteen. Adolescence is the known factor that has added to the high rate of automobile crashes and death among teenagers. Summing up the problems teens face as new drivers is their abscence of driving skills and their inexperience behind the wheel. For these facts alone, Luray High School provided, for the 2000-20001 school year, a driver education course for freshmen. In prior years, students took the class only when they became sophomores. The classroom portion of driver education was taught at the beginning of the second semester this year. Rules of the road, signs and signals, consequences of drinking and driving, and vehicle registration are taught in the classroom. Behind-the-Wheel students are taught defensive driving techniques, parking, speed limits, rural driving, and passing vehicles. When asked if it is better that students are taking driver education at a younger age, Ms. Sipe said, "It will be beneficial to the student-driver to take the classroom portion and learn the correct way to execute driving maneuvers and laws of the road before they develop bad habits."

In the past year we have found ourselves stepping out for many things. We stepped out in the summer to go to work, go on vacation, or go out with friends. We stepped out Friday after games to go to McDonalds. We stepped out to go shopping and check out the trends. We stepped out on Saturday nights to cruise town or talk to friends at Bo's. On special weekends we stepped out in style to attend the Homecoming Dance or the Prom. The year ended and seniors stepped out one last time for graduation. No matter what we were stepping out for, we did it with flair, as we met, greeted

Homecoming holds students till the last song

Searching for that perfect dress, waiting to be asked by that special someone, and making sure everything is just right, leads to an exciting and memorable evening. What other evening could this be but Homecoming!

Homecoming is a time for students to come out and look their best. People put lots of time and effort into their look for the big night. "It takes me about the whole day," said ninth grader lesha Williams.

 $\Delta t$  8:00 the doors opened to a night filled with excitement. The theme was "You Had Me  $\Delta t$  Hello", by Kenny Chesney. Around 400 people attended the dance.

The music of the evening projected diverse opinions from the student body. "It wasn't bad, but I preferred the past DJ's," said senior Phil Ernest. No matter what the opinions were, the dance floor remained hot and crowded.

The chosen homecoming—court had a very exciting night. "I was overwhelmed knowing that I had been chosen king," said senior Jeremy Burton. A Senior Princess Jennifer Gochenour said, "To become a Senior Princess was exciting and I felt important."

As the night ticked away, 11:00 finally crept up on the students. As the music stopped and the lights turned on, everyone left at the same time, creating a "Mass Exodus" replied teacher Barbie Stombock. Chaperones had never seen that many people leave actually when the dance was over.

Deople left the gym with memories that will last in their minds forever. The most memorable moment of senior Daniel Knizewski's night was when his date left him an hour after the dance had started. "It was about 9:30 and Michael Janney and I walked outside, and I realized that my date's red mustang was nowhere to be found," said Daniel. In many ways, Homecoming surely became a night to remember.

On May 12, 2001, the student body, their parents, and their respective dates gathered in the school auditorium for Grand March. The music began, and last year's prom king and queen stepped out onto the stage and walked up the center aisle. After twenty-five minutes of the students showing off their prom attire, the parents departed and couple photos were taken.

At 8 p.m, the Moose Lodge opened it's doors and couples began to arrive. By nine, the guests were piled inside and the night was in full swing. Prom denizens grooved all evening long until finally the moment of truth came. Seniors Jennifer Gochenour and Michael Janney were announced as the 2001 Prom Queen & King. As midnight rolled around, couples sipped the last drops from their coconut cups and quickly departed in excitement while awaiting the upcoming After Prom Party.

Back at the school, an inflatable obstacle course, bungee run, and laser tag game were set up in the gym while an Orbitron, game room, movie room and fortune telling stand were available elsewhere in the school.

After Prom was a lot of fun because there were a lot of things to do.

Did you know?

* By Thanksgiving

44% of the students

on poor school

standing were there

because of attendance.

* That the eighth graders carried the heaviest bookbags this year.

One year after the "Millennium Madness" the first graduating class of the new millennium prepare to graduate. With senior stress overflowing the Class of 2001 were overwhelmed with multiple tasks. Although Seniors had a rough road ahead they looked forward to the rewards of Senior Trip, Senior Week, and finding out who wonthe Senior Superlatives. The everyday struggles of the student body included pre-college classes and getting used to the new policies, as well as, the new superintendent. With all of the commotion, students were left to be "one face in the crowd."

"I'm used to changes, but the changes I noticed more of in high school were the people, exams and I have to be a lot more independent. It's a lot different then elementary school" said eighth grader Steven Richards

FUTURE STEPS

Students work extra hard to get a start on their future.

"AP Classes don't seem to differ to much from the regular ones. It just involves a lot more reading but less homework."

&arah Pierce, Junior

"Study hall is a big help for me. It gives me time to finish my homework at school so I can have free time after school."

Martha Ward, Eigth Grade

Does it really matter if you take a class that is general, academic, honors, or AP? Many of the students taking a higher credited class really don't find it to much different. If your willing to offer a little extra effort towards an honors class then you shouldn't have any problems.

As long as you have time to sit down and read the material covered in an  $\Lambda P$  or honors class you really would have no problem with the class. Some students want the extra credits from an  $\Lambda P$  or Honors class but are afraid that if they take the class then they will end up recieving a low grade.

Students say that having a study hall as one of their seven classes is a big help to them. A study hall offers them time to finish homework from the night before or the work assigned that day. It offers them extra free time to chill at home, cruise out town, or participate in other activities.

Many students are working extra hard to earn early college credits by taking AP classes. Some students even pay to take an exam that will benefit them with their early college credits. There are even a few students who are taking a tutorial elective. Those students go over to the Elementary school and help the teachers over there teach their classes. It offers those students a chance to experience teaching if that is what they want to do with their future. There are many different choices for students at Luray High School, although they aren't for everyone.

"As long as the lunch isn't crawling off of the plate, it's alright."

> Rae Divine Price - denior

What's for lunch? Chicken again?! And Pizza! That's the most common phrase heard by students around 11:05 everyday. Last year it was chicken and this year it is pizza and chicken for lunch almost everyday.students step into the doors of the snack line in a frenzy of disgust. Another option is to pack a good 'ole lunch from home.

Even though Freshman Kellie Dovel has only been at LHS for two years, she said, "the school lunch smells like burnt garlic." On an opposing side, Lunchlady Brenda Louderback said, "I think overall the lunch is pretty good, for what we have to work with." For the students who do eat the school lunch, every nine out of 10 say that the portions of food are not enough to fill them up. Senior Ellen Markowitz says, "I pack a lunch everyday so I don't have to eat the school lunch and so I have enough food to fill me up." Based on the opinions of the student body, hopefully the future will bring more variety of food to

It seems like everyday the same old boring option for food is chicken or pizza. Yum-yum. Eat up!!!

AND THE WINNER IS...

2000 Elections Too Close to Call, Recounts Last 36 Days

"My opinion on the election is that it took too long and it cost too much money."

Misty Carter - Senior

"My opinion on the election is that Bush is a liar and Gore should have won."

Michael Allen

George W. Bush's first few moments of victory, after the assumption that he was the new president, were short. After Gore found out that Bush had only won by a slim margin, Gore wanted a recount, and so the night of the election the recounts started.

As the recounts went on, the controversy arose over the Florida ballots. Some of the Democratic voters started protesting when tons of votes were thrown away because the voters had punched two holes, instead of one, in the ballot. The voters had even filed lawsuits claiming that the butterfly ballots were confusing, causing some Gore voters to vote for Buchanan, instead of Gore. The recounts went on for thirty-six days. Senior Adam Truax believed that everything that went on during those thirty-six days was, "a joke and made the government look childish."

During those thirty-six days, the recounts had stopped to say that the numbers were in favor of Bush, and finally on December 13, 2000, after many appeals, Al Gore conceded. On January 20, 2000 George W. Bush was inaugurated the 43rd Dresident of the United States.

"I thought that Bush was going to win the election from the start."

OUTAND ABOUT

Students rate the county events!

"I was afraid that the Shenandoah National Park fire was going to hit my dad's cabin in the mountains.

Shayna Smith Eighth Grader

"Their is nothing ever to do in Luray and when the fair comes there is."

> Jacque Washington - Sophomore

What county event is important to you? Many of students say the fair is the most significant county event to them. Of the students that say the fair is the most important to them, they say that it's because nothing ever happens in Luray.

The Shenandoah National Park fire was another big issue in Page County especially in Jewell Hollow and at Madison County. It also affected many of the students. Some of the students and teachers were worried that the fire was going to keep growing and reach their houses. Many people had homes in Jewell Hollow that were in danger and evacuated due to the fire. It did hit one of the cabins down there though, Matt Waters'. The firefighters eventually let the fire on Shenandoah National Park collide, letting Old Rag Mountain meet at Pinniciles Mountain and burn it's way out.

Other events that affected the students but not as dramatically as others is the Heritage Festival, Stanley Christmas Parade and the Mayfest. Many of our the students worked at the Heritage Festival doing work that had to do with school activities. An example of this would be working a booth for the Band Boosters Club or even selling yearbooks for photojournalism. The photojournalism staff worked the yearbook booth selling archive yearbooks. Other students like Christina Connolly and Caitlin Feeley sold food at the Band Boosters Club. Timmy Landsberry, Brandon Burns, Linda Sylvious, and Crystal Creel threw candy during the Stanley Christmas Parado. Every year our county gets together for these traditional events.

VACATION DAZE Students Enjoy Any Kind Of

Break From School

"The thing I like best about vacation days is that I get to sleep late and do whatever I want."

Jennifer Hilliard

"On my days off from school I like to spend my time hunting and fishing."

Derek Gaunt

Vacation days are always important to both students and teachers alike. This year, Luray High School has had many more early dismissals than in recent memory. "I think that all of the early dismissals made the weeks seem much shorter, and teachers seemed more laid back on days we got out early", said junior Daniel Dender.

Christmas vacation was somewhat shortened this year, and many students found that the break wasn't nearly long enough for such an important holiday. "I wish the break was longer because I didn't feel like I had enough time to enjoy the holiday before we were back in school", said junior Kevin Noblette."

Although Christmas break was not as long as in the past, spring break was much more lengthy than most students and teachers can ever remember it being. The break was a total of nine days long, nearly as long as Christmas break. "I think that the extended spring break definitely makes up for the shortened break we had at Christmas," said eighth grader Andrew Markowitz.

PLAY TIME

Students play in & out of school, with toys of their personality.

"I play with PlayStation and Nintendo 64 to occupy my time now, but Nintendo was my favorite toy when I was little."

Adam Owens
-Senior

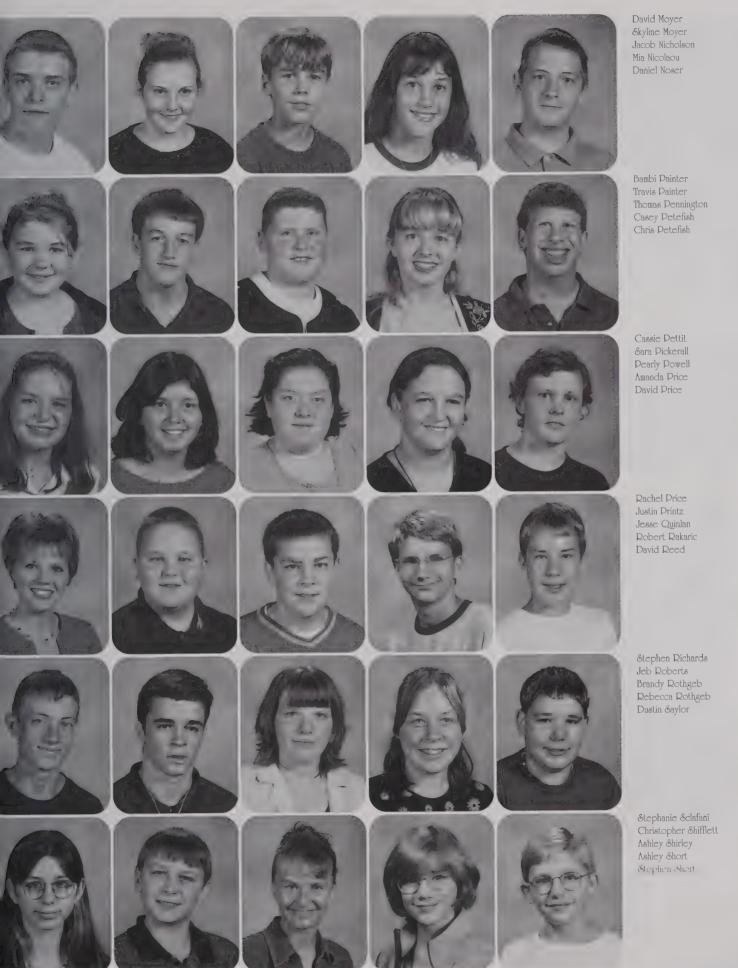

"The type of toys that I play with and collect are stuffed animals & the most popular toy among teenagers is Winnie the Pooh & Friends stuff."

- Shelby Stribling -Freshman

There's a child in all of us, or at least that is what LHS students have shown us this year. Everything from stuffed animals to PlayStation2 have shown to be popular with all ages. With our bookbags, cars, rooms, and even classrooms decorated with fun things to play with, it leaves us with something to brighten our day or to occupy our time.

LHB has as lo shown us unique ways to 'play' with toys. Some people make their toys like Michelle Painter. She made a teddy bear this year at Myrtle Beach. "I played with teddy bears when I was little, and I got to make my own this year at Build-a-Bear workshop. I picked him out, put a heart in him, stuffed & fluffed him, made him a birth certificate, and dressed him. Finally I named him Billy Bob," Michelle said. Students get really creative when it comes to picking a toy to fit their personality. Some students also like to collect their toys. They get them for presents, or they've been favorites of theirs since they were little. Some Bulldogs even have collectables because they are worth money and will grow in value in years to come.

HOME IS WHERE THE HEART IS

Alumni of Luray High return to teach

"I became at teacher at Luray High School because it was in the community I live in and I wanted to give something back."

> Mr. David Ponn Asst. Principal

"All of my family is located in this area and I wanted to be near them. I like the atmosphere of a small school setting, so I became a teacher at Luray High &chool."

Mrs. Samantha Hamilton • -Math Teacher

Have you ever counted the number of teachers at this school that are alumni? There are 31 teachers that graduated from the same Luray High School that still stands today. When asked, why the teachers picked the same school to teach at that they once attended? Many of the teachers said that they liked the fact that they were near family members and their birth place. Teachers agreed that things had changed since they had been students. The biggest change that was noticed were the rules. Rules at Luray High School have become stricter now that we have reached new times. Mr. Osborne said, "There are a lot more rules. I think that is because in our changing world nothing is normal so you need to have specifics for people to follow." Teachers also agreed that our school system now has more technology than that of the past. When asked, if any of the students now resemble students from the past? Teachers also agreed that most of the students level of respect had declined because of the new generation.

"I really like the idea of teaching at my alma mater in fact, I don't think I'd teach at all if I couldn't teach here!"

Do you work a second job besides being a teacher here at Luray High School?

"Yes and no-- I am a wife and mother which requires a great deal of time and effort, but sadly no pay," said computer and technology teacher Lisa Funkhouser.

Do you believe your second job affects your teaching?

"I felt tired when school started instead of feeling rested. In the long run the hours probably affected how I feel more than how I teach," said teacher Kathy Chrisman. Her second job over the summer was at the deli in Food Lion.

New technology leads to mass advancements

"I like playing with hightech things, especially video games."

Adam Owens
- Senior

"Things like video games and computers are my favorite high-tech devices to use."

Dustin Burton
- Eighth grader

There were many things that were new in hightech devices. From teachers, to the students of every grade, the school enjoyed playing with every kind of high-tech gadget, new or old.

The new year called for new things, there were new game systems, such as the hard-to-get. Play-Station 2, and the new kind of cell phone designs like ones with leopard prints, or bright, colors. The newer, smaller pagers were a big hit even though you couldn't have them on school property, many people enjoyed them anyway.

All the things that students said were their favorite high-tech implements were those that usually weren't allowed to be in school. The consequence of having these items in school is usually ten days of Out-of-School suspension.

Most things that the students loved to play with on their spare time were camcorders and newer kind of cameras like ones that could fit in your pocket or make the pictures all different sizes. The camera that has "sticky" film, so that the pictures could be placed on any surface, was also popular.

Lit's gets more technical each year. The growing population of the school and the growing of inventions and technology keep this school ahead of falling behind in the times.

"I love to play video games like PlayStation, and Sega." Jacob Nicholson - Eighth grader

Compared to computers, video games were rated higher to the majority of the students.

"I enjoy playing with high-tech game systems such as the new Nintendo 64." Herm Green - Freshman Students liked the new game systems compaired to the old ones.

"Any kind of computer systme especially labtop or colored computers."

Amber Greer

- Sophomore

Students said they liked their home computers better because they could do more on them.

"I don't usually play with any high-tech devices." Amanda Griffith - Junior Few students went through their day without playing with anything that was high-tech.

One Month At A Time

sponsors and Officers work hard to make up for the 3 lost meetings

When asked if the lack of three meetings hurt clubs, Junior Corina

Campbell responded, "Definitely! It was hard to plan and keep up on events. It seems like all my clubs are struggling to stay together." Corina is a member of Interact, National Honor

&ociety, Coed Hi-Y, &tudent Council, and Varsity club.

Upon hearing the news that the December, January and March meetings were canceled, sponsors and officers became frantic. Dates were set earlier, though, sadly, many events that had become tradition to many clubs were cancelled. FFA was planning on having a Big Buck contest, but due to lack of time and organization, plans fell through. Many eighth graders who were just getting used to club day, became extremely confused by the deletion of meetings. Even with the mass chaos, sponsors and officers worked hard planning club meetings and organizing events "One Month At A Time."

Did you know?

*The 2000-2001 NH8 is the biggest in LH8 history?

*In French and Spanish Club, members must maintain a C average or better to remain members?

*SCA has the largest fundraiser every year? The SCA sponsors Homecoming annually, raising around $2200. After paying for decorations and prizes, that's $1300 to fund school projects.

Parlez-vous Francais?

During French Club, which meets fourth period, Sophomore Jerica Farmer and Freshman Katie Taylor discuss their plans for the club in French. Foreign Language clubs were a way for students to learn more about the culture of their language and enabled students to participate in more hands-on projects.

During Varsity Club, Senior Kendra Middleton tries to express her feelings about the fundraiser while Senior Michael Janney objects. Kendra had warned Michael many times to be quiet, before finally having to take matters into her own hands.

Candy Thief

Sophomore Ryan Thomas sneaks a quick peck at the Interact candy fundraiser. Interact members sold M & M's, Reeses Pieces, Caramellos, Reese Peanut Butter Cups, Warheads and Sour Gummy Wailys. The candy proved to be a great fundraiser because candy was a favorite among students.

Dlayers aren't the only people who make a team. Managers are extremely important, but don't always get all the credit they deserve. Senior Michael Janney managed the varsity football team since his ninth grade year. Janney came early to every practice and game to perform his important duties. He not only manages varsity football, but also manages baseball and basketball.

CHRIS GOOD BREAKS RECORDS, TEAM BREAKS EVEN

Senior running back Chris Good shattered single game, single season, and career rushing records. Despite his accomplishments, the team finished at 5-5, and failed to make the playoffs. Starting quarterback Kyle Houff finished the season with 1037 passing yards and 12 touchdowns. Leading all receivers was Maurice Frye with 22 catches for 404 yards. 'We had some games we should have won," said Michael Weaver. The season did have its up side, however, as the Bulldogs defeated their rivals, the Page County Panthers. "Since it was my first year playing, I was a little nervous as to how it would be, but I had a good time and was glad I played. I only wish we could have won a few more games," remarked Junior wide receiver Matt Fox.

" Chris Good was pound-forpound the best running back in the state.

CHERICADING COMPETITION

Luray cheerleaders take third place!!

On February 24th, the Luray Cheerleading Competition squad placed third place at Riverheads High School. This is the first year in four years that Luray cheerleaders went to Regionals. This year Regionals were held in Arlington Virginia at George Mason High School. Page County High School placed first place, Riverheads High School placed second, and LHS following in third. Varsity cheerleaders Corina Campbell and Emily Brockman made First Team All District, and received medals for their achievements. Amanda Thompson and Courtney Dofflemyer made Second Team All District. The judges tallied their scores by some of the cheerleaders facial expressions and on accuracy and flexability. Junior Jessica Markowitz said, "We did really good at districts because we looked really cute and had good facials." Junior Amy Batchelor was injured two days before Competition, therefore the cheerleaders had to change and re-adjust their routine. Also, starting the year with four male cheerleaders, the girls were left with only two to take to competition. When asked if cheerleading was a sport, John Ketchum said "... Sport, because believe it or not, it does take a lot of teamwork and dedication.

Cheerleaders Take It A Step Ahead

New changes take the cheerleaders a step up

With the new year begining the cheerleaders began their year with many new changes. This year was the first year that the cheerleaders made "goody bags" for the boys basketball in hopes to motivate them more for the games. They also came to school early to decorate the boys lockeroom with posters and streamers and stayed after school to design a banner for the football team to run through. Having a new coach every year caused difficulties among most of the girls, although freshman Amanda Thompson said "It really doesn't matter as long as we have a coach." Deciding upon who was captaing was also chosen by try-out scores and anonymous votes. This was also the first year of having male cheerleaders.

"Everyday for about a month before competition its all you think about." -- Courtney Dofflemyer

CHEERLEADERS

"My favorite part about Competition was spending the time with all of my closest friends during practices to learn the routine and get everything down
pat. However my least favorite part was getting hurt right before,
and not being able to compete.
Although I am very proud of the girls for making it to Regionals."

-Amy Batchelor

"My favorite part of Competition was seeing all other squads and their routines, it was mind-blowing! Also performing in front of so many people was exciting. My least favorite part of Competition was losing a cheerleader. We had been practicing with her and right before we went she got hurt and couldn't perform."

"......learning year with many personal bests."

Although there were not as many members participating this year as in the past, many personal bests were achieved during the 2001 track season. "We had a learning year with many personal bests," said track coach Mr. Chrisman

Attending the Regional track meet at UVA were Crystal Creel, Elisha Frye, Ashley Talaber, Travis Thibodeau, Javier Villordo, Daniel Prendable, Nate Sours, Chad Good, Shawn Carter, Cliff Chrisman, Chris Schu, and Steven Creel. Senior Crystal Creel qualified for the state track meet on April 28, at the Wrangler Invitational meet by clearing 5'0" in the high jump. At the Regional meet she qualified for the 100m hurdles.

Although both the boys and girls finished 5th in the district, many track members were pleased with this season. "I feel that everyone did their best and accomplished all of their goals," said track member Jenna Drendable. Junior Cliff Chrisman thought that the track team performed exceptionally well except for a few meets.

Many improvements were shown throughout the season. "Creat improvements seemed to appear in the jumps, sprints, weight throws, and runs," said

Basketball Teams Hope To Improve Record

"The season was fun. the girls were great to work with and they have a lot of potential." Coach Katie Sturm

Teams Strive to Win Under New Coaches

For yet another year, the 7th over as coach of the 7th and and 8th grade girls basketball team faced a coaching change. Ms. Katie Sturm took over the team in hopes to have a successful year. The season had it's ups and downs, but the girls managed to finish the year with a record of 7-9. This is the best 7th and 8th grade girls record in more than two years. Mr. Terry Cawthorn also took 8th grade boys basketball team. With four returning players, the team strived to improve their record of last year. The boys had the chance to tie or break their 8-8 record of last year, but were unable to do so because their second game against William Monroe was cancelled. They finished with an 8-7 record for the year.

HEADS-UP

Volleyball Girls Head For The Top

Old Mistakes Lead to New Goals

The volleyball girls practice for about and hour and a half to two hours every day after school. This hard work lead to a seasonal goal of being one of the best in the district. The team placed second over all. The girls had an upsetting loss when they reached the district tournament, however.

Although the girls season did not end as well as they would of liked, they put alot of time and effort into it, and expect to fix the mistakes they made for their future volleyball careers. The girls will only be losing one senior and expect to have an outstanding team next year.

"I think this season showed just how determined we really were. We finished 2nd and that was a big a accomplishment for us all. I think for the first time that I've been on Varsity, we've all gotten along and that helped alot."

AHEAD OF THEIR GAME

students show individuality though different sports

"I think the ice skating rink was a great attempt to add variety to the recreational park."

Angela Judd Junior skateboarding & 4-wheeling rank among top

Although Luray High &chool has it's own school sports, there are many sports that are not associated with the school. Many students spend their spare time enjoying sports on their own. Fishing, hunting, bowling, off-roading, skateboarding are some of these "alternative sports". The sport sometimes reflect the person who participate in it. For example, a more nature oriented person would most likely enjoy hunting, fishing, or 4-wheeling. But a more urban oriented person would enjoy skateboarding.

NICE LANDING

news

This year a ice skating rink was put up at the imagination station. It was the first time anything like that has been done for students and others to have a chance to ice skate for fun. Many people went just to see what it was like and others did it because they enjoyed ice skating and had done it before.

What do you think?

Q: What's your favorite alternative sport?

"My friends and I ride 4wheelers most weekends throughout the summer to pass time."

- Jeremy Dorrough

"My favorite alternative sport is fishing. It allows me to get out of the house and explore mother nature."

- Jessica Stoneberger

"I like to play hockey and I like to snow ski."

-Shawn Campbell

"I like football. It is a contact sport and it has been my favorite sport for years."

-Justin Printz

New Businesses and Changes Sprout Up in Luray.

Eighth grader, Ashley

Turner says, "I think that it takes much more time to get to restaurants and into town and stuff like that."

Some people think that change isn't good, but on the other hand, others feel that change is crucial to everyday living. New businesses such as Luray Emco gave many students & adults employment, Radio Shack makes it possible to find electronics around Luray, and the Burger King is another option for fast food. A change that makes things a bit more difficult is the removal of the bridge near Page Farm Bureau. People that live on Highway 340 South and backroads have to take detours to get into town and back home.

Colophon

"One Step Ahead" was how the 2001 Highland staff had to be when sending the yearbook to Josten's Printing and Publishing, who printed the Highland volume 58 in State College, Pennsylvania 16804-0279.

This year's theme "One Step Ahead" was created by the entire staff. The section editors designed the cover. The front endsheets were designed and created by Kendra Middleton. The back endsheets were selected from a Josten's layout design book. We used the computer program Adobe PageMaker 6.5 to complete the spreads. The copy & captions were written by everyone on staff and printed in University Roman typeface 10 point-copy and captions in 8 point. Each section had a different template that was selected by the section editor. The folios were selected from Josten's designs. Yearbook Man was Beau Holsinger!

A special thank you goes to Laura Migdal our Josten's representative for coming to our rescue so often, the guidance department for the endless lists of students that we needed, the office for letting us use the PA, make copies, and our numerous phone calls, the athletic department for furnishing team rosters and records, the administration for being so cooperative and supportive throughout the entire year, and especially to Mr. Vernon Tilley for taking school, club, prom, homecoming and graduation pictures.

The Final Step

Final days will always be remembered.

Did you Know?

* Cas. prices have flipflopped all year. (gas was about $1.22 per gallon)

*The average price for "getting on-line" a month is $20.00 in this area.

After 180 long days of school, June 7th finally rolled around. Seniors enjoyed a week to themselves, and exams started soon after. It seemed like as soon as the students became acclimated with the new policies and new teachers, they were gone. The school year ended and the halls cleared for summer. Finally the hot evening of June 8 rolled around and we became "One Step Mead".

"With so much to do my senior year it seemed like it flew by, but I enjoyed every minute of it!"
